

I strongly oppose the weakening of Indiana's law. Imposing the federal "established business relationship" exemption on Indiana consumers would allow unwanted phone calls and prohibit our privacy. They would simply make up a business relationship. If their business relationship is worth keeping, subject firm can simply call us themselves!